Note: You may be interested in DocFetcher Pro, the commercial big brother of DocFetcher with more features, or DocFetcher Server, the commercial cousin of DocFetcher with multi-user support and a web interface. Find out more.

Description

DocFetcher is an open-source desktop search application: It allows you to search the contents of files on your computer. — You can think of it as Google for your local files. The application runs on Windows, Linux and macOS, and is made available under the Eclipse Public License.

Basic Usage

The screenshot below shows the main user interface. Queries are entered in the text field at (1). The search results are displayed in the result pane at (2). The preview pane at (3) shows a text-only preview of the file currently selected in the result pane. All matches in the file are highlighted in yellow.

You can filter the results by minimum and/or maximum filesize (4), by file type (5) and by location (6). The buttons at (7) are used for opening the manual, opening the preferences and minimizing the program into the system tray, respectively.

Introduction

DocFetcher 1.1.25

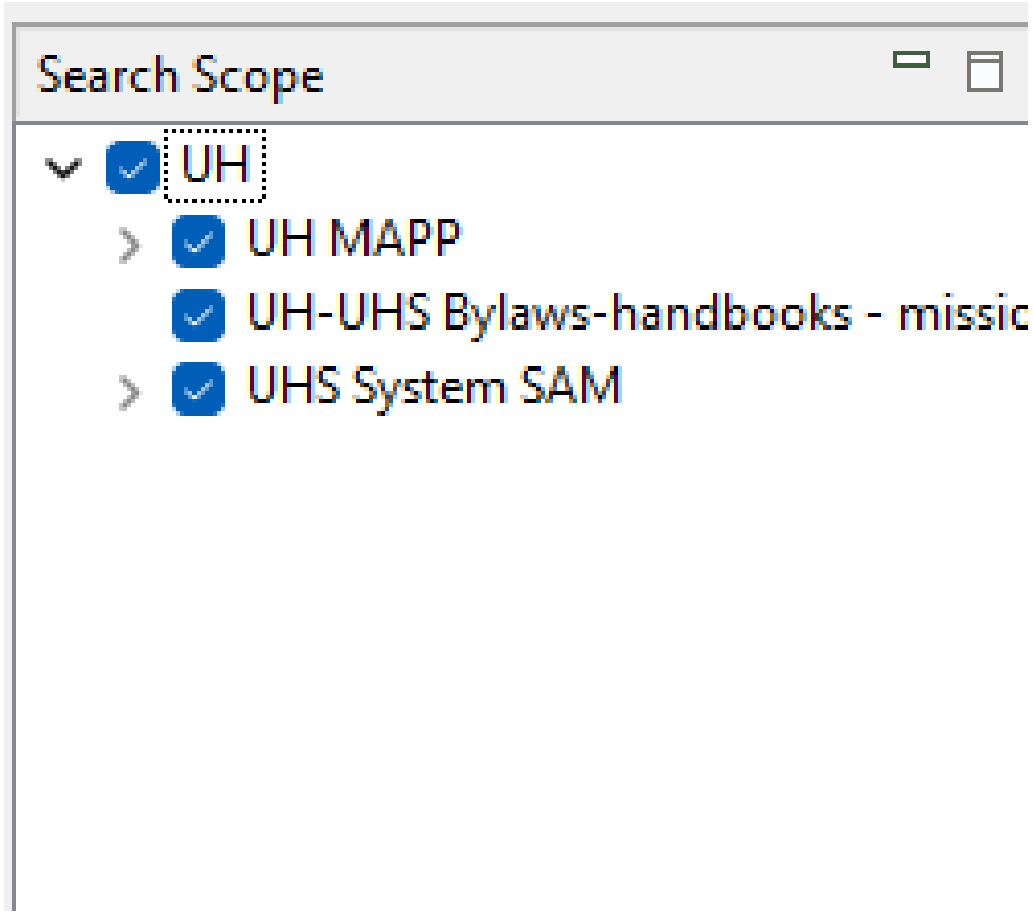

DocFetcher is an Open Source desktop search application: It allows you to search the contents of files on your computer. - You can think of it as Google for your local files.

Index-based search: Since searching in the documents directly would be impractically slow for a larger number of documents, DocFetcher requires that you create indexes for the folders you want to search in. These indexes allow DocFetcher to quickly look up files by keyword, similar to how you would use the index in the back of a book. Creating an index might take some time, depending on the number and sizes of the indexed files. However, this needs to be done only once for each folder; afterwards you can search in the indexed folders as many times as you want.

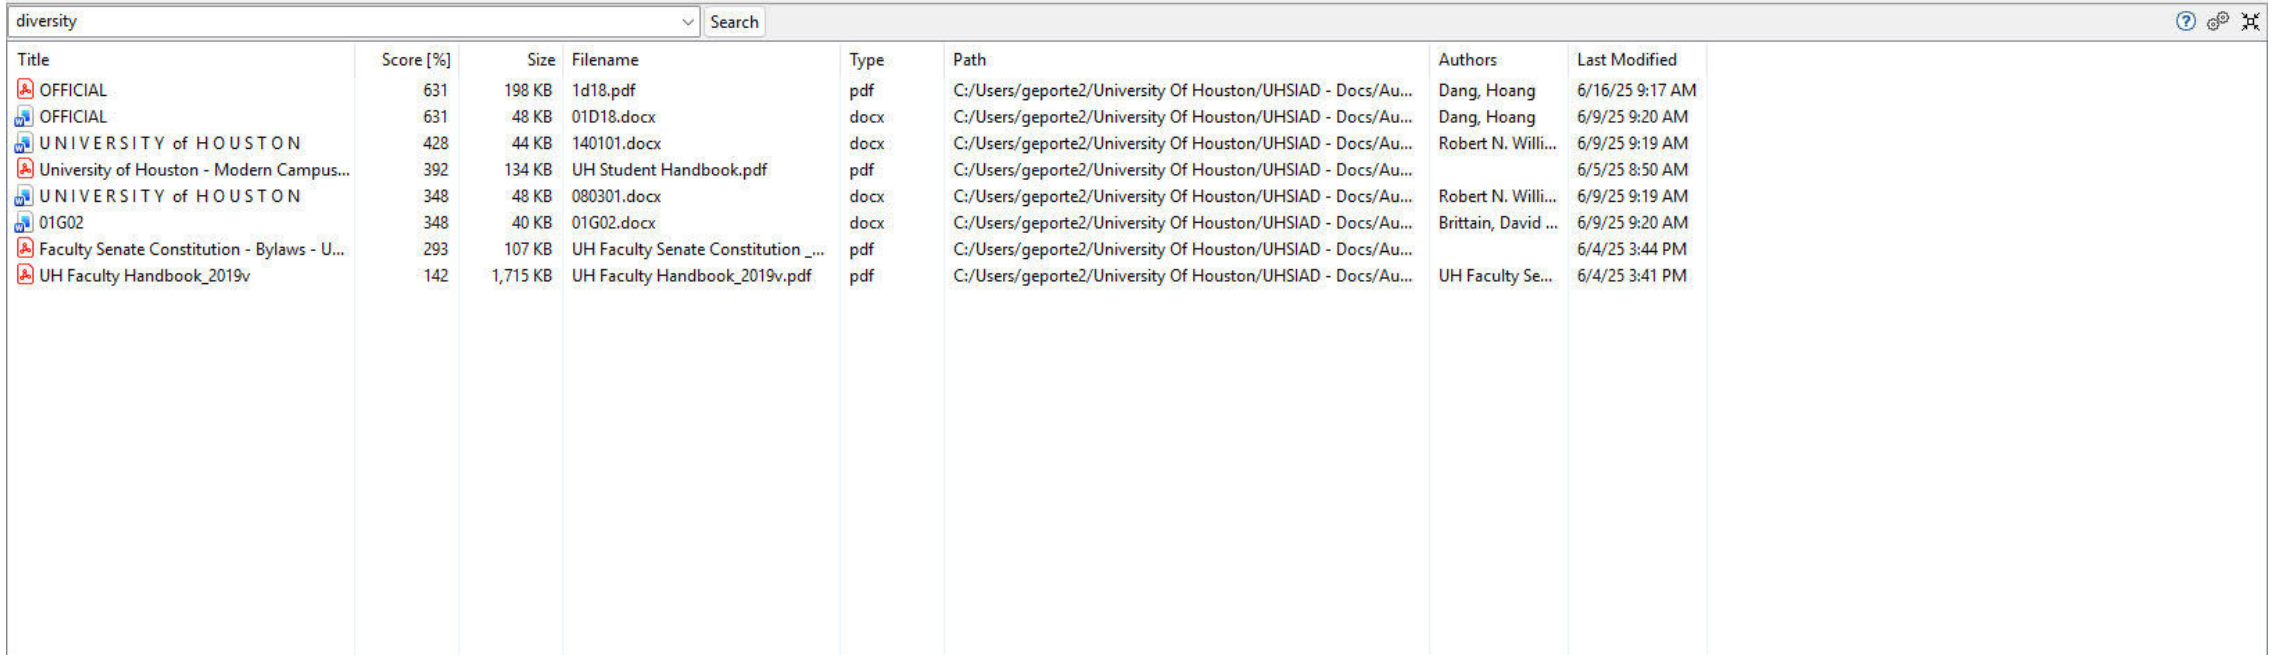

Creating an index: To create an index, right-click on the `Search Scope` area on the left and select `Create Index From > Folder`. Now choose a folder to be indexed. For starters, this should be a small one with not too many files in it, like, say, 50? After selecting the folder, a configuration window pops up. The default configuration should suffice, so just click on the `Run` button and wait until DocFetcher has finished indexing the documents. (An alternative way of creating an index is to paste a directory from the clipboard into the `Search Scope` area. However, this only works for ordinary directories, not for PST files.)

Searching: Enter one or more words to search for in the text field above the result pane (the table with the column headers) and press the `Enter` key. The search results will be displayed in the result pane, sorted by descending score.

University of Houston Diversity and Inclusion Statement

The University of Houston embraces diversity and recognizes our responsibility to foster an open, welcoming environment where students, faculty and staff of all backgrounds can collaboratively learn, work and serve. We value the academic, social, and broader community benefits that arise from a diverse campus and are committed to equity, inclusion and accountability. Diversity enriches our university community and is a driving force instrumental to our institutional success and fulfillment of the university's mission. We commit to engaging in an ongoing dialogue to thoughtfully respond to the changing realities of our increasingly interconnected world. We will continually strive to work together to address the challenges of the future in a way that removes barriers to success and promotes a culture of inclusivity, compassion and mutual respect. The competencies gained through diverse experiences across campus prepare all of our students, staff and faculty to thrive personally and professionally in a global society.

Defining Success

In-demand degree programs, more student-centered opportunities, and nationally recognized achievements showcase just a few of the ways University of Houston-Clear Lake defines success. Since first welcoming students in 1974, UHCL has evolved into a four-year university and added more degree programs to accommodate a wider range of interests. A school on the move, UHCL wants to share achievements with friends, family, current students, alumni and prospective students.

Campus Expansion Projects

With two new new buildings and two other construction projects on the horizon, UHCL offers expanded educational opportunities to students. The STEM and Classroom Building opened in August 2018. Addressing the growing fields of science, technology, engineering and math, the building offers 15 teaching lab, 13 faculty research labs, an observation deck and more. The Recreation and Wellness Center also opened for the 2018 fall semester. This multi-purpose facility offers amenities for education, fitness and wellness, including basketball courts, teaching labs, exercise equipment and classes, private study rooms and more. UHCL also broke ground on the Health Sciences and Classroom Building at UHCL at Pearland. Expected to open in spring 2019, this 69,539-square-feet-building will help increase the quality of and enrollment in the already successful health science programs at the campus. The last development is the 80,000-square-foot, 300-bed residence hall, newly named Hunter Residence Hall at the Bay Area Boulevard location, which will offer affordable housing to students by fall 2019.

Sustained STEM Success

With the opening of the new STEM building came a $3.7 million U.S. Department of Education Award to support science, technology, engineering and mathematics programs at UHCL. The College of Science and Engineering plans to use the funds to support students in STEM fields as well as facilitate student transfers to UHCL. In collaboration with the College of Education, the College of Science and Engineering also plans to develop a computer science teacher certification program. The grant opens doors for Hispanic and low-income student to pursue careers in STEM.

UHCL is a designated Hispanic-Serving Institution.
